Miss Julia Rochefort, organizer for the county home economic clubs of the state, was here this week ascertaining if the county wished to continue the enterprise. Miss Rochefort is one of the really worth while attaches of the state agricultural college.

It has been decided to pay the farmer for his wheat according to the guaranty made him by the government before he planted. That is, no matter what dealers may pay, the government will make up the difference to him on a basis of $2.26 for No. 1 wheat, Chicago.

For instance, if the local or other grain dealers can pay $1.50 a bushel, there will be due from the government 60 cents for each bushel sold at that price, it being understood that No. 2 wheat on our local market will be rated at $2.10 on the Chicago basis for number one wheat.

Charlie Sasse is finishing cutting about 210 acres of wheat with a Moline 10 foot binder hitched to a Universal tractor. He is more than pleased with the work and the progress he has made. Even in tangled wheat he has had good luck getting along with the work. Nearly 30 acres each day has been his average while running, rain preventing continuous cutting.

Hon. A. L. Welch of Oklahoma City was in town Friday last enroute home from the east and a visit to his father at Pee Dee. Lon is several pounds lighter than when here on his last visit but looking fine. He is quite busy with the affairs of his office but keeps his eye on the political situation tho settled in his determination to not be a candidate for the governorship of his state. He knows that a majority of Democrats are endorsers of Senator James A. Reed's views concerning a league of nations and they are not much in for any of the suggested candidates for the presidency on the Democratic ticket. Lon would not be in the least surprised should either Senator Reed or Senator Hiram Johnson be the nominee of the party and he would weep no weeps if such proved to be the case.

Hon. A. M. Shelton of Livingston County is going to make the race for state treasurer and win. He will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination, be nominated and elected. Farm Bureau Notes

By Sam Jordan

How positive we sometimes are about things we think we know when in reality we are entirely mistaken. We have had this demonstrated the past week in two instances. These two people were dead sure that treating wheat for smut was all foolishness since they had sown both the treated and untreated seed and that there was no difference in the smut found under the two conditions. We expect that this same song will be put up by others. A little questioning brot out the fact that neither one of these people knew anything about the stinking smut but that they had seen the black head in wheat which we know as "loose smut" and can in no way be handled with the formaldehyde treatment to destroy this variety of smut. No claims were ever made by this bureau or by anyone else that the formaldehyde treatment would prevent loose smut in wheat yet, this same treatment is successful in preventing loose smut in oats and barley. The treatment for the stinking smut or bunt, as it is sometimes called, that we have suggested, and urged, and howled about and said good things and mean things and sometimes almost cursed a little urging people to treat their wheat, is successful in the highest degree. This treatment is not only beneficial in preventing this disease but from our rather extensive inspections this season of plants sown to treated and untreated seed we feel sure of our ground when we say that to treat the seed will be beneficial whether it contained bunt or not. It simply means that disinfecting the seed has a tendency to destroy any condition of the seed that might have a tendency to injure the growth of the crop. We believe it is just as important as disinfecting the barn, breeding healthy animal, currying your horse, or taking a bath. We have been guided in this matter only by the observation of the standing crops, but those who have been with me in my inspection have reached the conclusion that the heads are larger and longer and better filled.

We have run on several instances that if we could only have every skeptic or "agitator" in the county to see what we have seen it would certainly cure him of his skepticism and he certainly would not fail in the future to take the necessary steps to keep his wheat clean. We have in mind one case in which the test showed a little more than 40 percent of smut heads. This is a loss of that much to begin on. When this man markets his wheat it will be docked at least 10 percent. Then

Clearance Sale

After a season much beyond our expectations we find we must have more room.

In order to reduce our stock we are going to close out our hats far below the cost price which will enable you to buy a midseason hat at a very low sum.

We are closing our store July 5th for repairs and will open early in August.

If you are in need of a hat for the warm weather come and let us show you our values we are offering for the next two weeks.

We are sure to please you.

the remainder of the wheat that was not ruined is of poor yield of a poor quality. We believe it can not grade higher than number three. We would estimate the loss at 60 percent. It cost just as much to plow the ground, sow the seed, and harvest the crop, as it would to secure a good crop. The only advantages the man will have will be that he won't have quite so much hauling to the market to do and the money he gets for it will not wear out his pockets so badly. Learning thru experience is a way in which we surely learn and experience is a good teacher but she sometimes comes too "dogged" high. There certainly was not a man in this county who last year was not made aware of the fact that he should treat the wheat for bunt and we urged it, and with all the vehemence that we could command, yet, a whole lot of people failed to do it and some to their very great grief. There are a thousand million things I don't know most of which I make no attempt to know but on the few things that I am trying to hand out I have my "dope on straight". We had hoped and expected that the grasshoppers would not be a menace this year. We had good reason since their natural enemy was very numerous last fall and he did get in his work to a very gratifying extent. In most places this pest seems to be very scarce yet in other places they seem to be as thick as they were this time last year. They should be poisoned within the next three weeks using the poison bran mash. If you have not this formula call for it.

Closing Out Sale of Lands and Marceline City Property

Having arranged to go into business at Carrollton, Mo., I propose to sell my home farm of 160 acres one fourth mile from Marceline with modern improvements. Also 80 acres, unimproved one mile from Marceline, forty-five acres within the corporate limits of Marceline and four houses in Marceline, one of them thoroughly modern. Will make low prices and liberal terms on any of this property.

Geo. J. Allen,
Marceline, Mo.

Colda

It's Snappy

At the end of a busy day—Colda, delightfully refreshing, invigorating. Banishes dull care. Whets the appetite for the evening meal. Excellent with the noon lunch, too.

Try at soda fountains. Order a case sent home.
